2007 / 2008 Catalog

Order form at back

New Additions:

33 Days: A High School Festival Play

by Fraser MacFarlane

Cast: 3 males, four females

Plot Summary: A play about homeless teens that uses slang and foreign words as a substitute for the earthy language of the street. An innovative, honest script with strong characters. Written for high school students, but never condescending, 33 DAYS usually clocks in at just under one hour. 69 pages Catalog Number #OAPD064 Price $4.95

Crash Bound

by Nina Waluschka

Cast: 2 males, 2 females

Plot Summary: Love, math and paranoia collide at 30,000 feet. An actress and a statistician find themselves on flight 214 to Los Angeles via Detroit. According to the statistician's calculations, today is the day that he was meant to find true love. The actress, however, is positive that flight 214 will crash, as she was never meant to reach "the metaphorical Moscow." Their personalities collide as the pilot quotes Chekhov and the flight attendant insists that she is a seagull. 50 pages Catalog Number #065 Price $4.95

The Crown Prince of Perfect

by J. Boyer

Cast: Up to 6 males, 8 females (doubling possible)

Plot Summary: Brian Colby and his wife Sarah are in counselling as the play begins, and it's not going well. Of course neither has their marriage. That's why they're in counselling with Dr. Castle, to help them get through the last of the time they'll be spending together. The doctor means to take them through various stages of their relationship, hoping to show them something positive amidst all their turmoil, but as Brian and Sarah see scenes from their marriage acted out on the other side of the stage, it only serves to underscore all their fears and animosities. As Brian tells his version of events, then Sarah tells hers, they seem to have spent their marriage worlds apart. Whatever made them think this marriage could work to begin with? Have they lived together all these years without so much as one perfect moment? And if there were such a moment, if such a moment exists for any husband and wife, where would it be? What would it teach us, if only we could find it?

Say When

by Donald Dewey

Cast: 2 males, 2 females

Plot Summary: Billie and Alex own a bar together. She wants to be a comedian, he doesn't think that's funny, all the people around them think both of them are hilarious. 29 pages Catalog Number #067 Price $4.95

A Stone Face Killer

by Alex Odom

Cast: 3 males, 2 females

Plot Summary: Everyone knows Detective Stoneface is the infamous "Rock Face Killer" but he can't seem to get caught, and it's driving him crazy. In this detective farce, Stoneface leaves a trail of evidence that his partner, Wadsworth, can't seem to follow. 32 pages Catalog Number #068 Price $4.95

RIPVAN

by Polychronis Koutsakis

Will Anyone Come to Our Party?

by R.L. Galley

Cast: Two males, four females

Plot Summary: An eccentric couple advertise for party guests. A collector for charity, an opinion pollster, a university academic and an escaped prisoner arrive, but it's not all coincidental. Bizarre deaths, mayhem and misunderstanding ensue. 40 pages Catalog Number #OAPD005 Price $4.95

THE EURIPIDEADS is an evening of theatre comprised of two works, Time Went By, But Slowly, a sendup of "Alcestis" by Euripides, and Wollicott's Traveling Rabbit's Foot Minstrels, a sendup of his "Iphigenia In Taurus". The plays can be mounted individually, but they benefit from a mounting in tandem. They then provide an evening's entertainment that means to put the most central presuppositions about the world held by the Ancients in the hands of Generation Xers - among these presuppositions, that order was available in the cosmos, that no matter how capricious the gods might be there is always reason to believe in justice in the world, that salvation at the hands of the gods was always a possibility. In two volumes. 40 pages Catalog Number #OAPDEUR Price $9.50

No Epilogue

by Nina Waluschka

Cast: 1 male, 1 female

Plot Summary: Mike, a struggling poet and cab driver, and Steph, the girl who loves him, debate the causes of a mysterious suicide early one morning on the Brooklyn Bridge. We soon learn that Mike hasn't written anything in months, but this suicide seems to inspire him. Was Mike somehow at fault for the stranger's fate? And how far will Steph go to inspire him again? 36 pages Catalog Number #OAPD009 Price $4.95

In the Shadow of the Glen

Imp of the Perverse

by Tami Canaday

Cast: 1 male, 1 female

Plot Summary: A confrontation between a peeping-Tom and the dancer he's been spying on examines their very human need for love and companionship. The play is structured with twists and turns that allow the characters and stakes to develop and to realize themselves fully by the surprise ending of the play. 27 pages Catalog Number #OAPD015 Price $4.95

Vultures

by Christine Emmert

Cast: 2 males, 1 female

Plot Summary: Simon and Penelope , critic and actress, husband and wife, have returned from an evening of theater. As Simon composes his review, a disgruntled wife and an even more disgruntled actor threaten to ruin his evening. The wife wants to kill herself, and the actor wants to kill Simon. 29 pages Catalog Number #OAPD016 Price $4.95

Celebrity

by Lewis Gardner

Cast: Two males, two females

Plot Summary: A stranger charms a woman into revealing her deepest secret - that she appeared in a subway ad for an embarrassing personal product. When he asks her to use her former celebrity for a sales scheme, she finds new courage that - we can hope - will change her life. 29 pages Catalog Number #OAPD017 Price $4.95

Bogey

by Polychronis Koutsakis

Cast: 2 males

Plot Summary: In a mental hospital two men, both around fifty, start talking. One of them is convinced that he is Humphrey Bogart, while the other one seems certain that he is Cary Grant (although his friend thinks that he is Clark Gable). But as their hilarious, antagonistic conversation continues, we find out that they are not as mad as they seem, and that they haven't really forgotten what has led them to adopt their fictional personalities. Catalog Number #OAPD018 28 pages Price $4.95

Forward Motion Matters

by Bash Halow

Cast: One male, two females

Plot Summary: Over a war-torn world, airline passengers lie on a king-size bed, flirt and hysterically philosophize with a sexy stewardess named Deb. A funny look at post 9/11 anxiety that is neither heavy-handed nor disrespectful. 42 pages Catalog Number #OAPD019 Price $4.95

Arranged Marriage

by Vishakan Jeyakumar

Cast: Three males, three females

Plot Summary: Kumaran, a naive young man, thinks that by having an arranged marriage he will have someone in his life. But when his wife Rani joins him, things don't turn out the way he imagined. 53 pages Catalog Number #OAPD020 Price $4.95

Report to the River

by Paul Stephen Lim

Cast: 2 males

Plot Summary: "Report to the River" by Paul Stephen Lim follows the psychological journey of Nick, an intelligent and articulate college student who tries to piece together his uncomfortable memories of a gruesome murder which took place in his hometown nine years ago. As Nick tries to relate the incidents of the case to his own present situation, he slowly becomes the boy whose body was found mutilated and buried along the sandy banks of the Kansas River. Or is Nick transforming himself into an amalgam of all the serial killers whom he reads about on the internet? 44 pages Catalog Number #OAPD021 Price $4.95

Axing the Axels

by Seymour M. Rosen

Cast: Five males, one female

Plot Summary: Hermes, the Olympian trickster god, is sent on a mission to Earth to deal with faux-Swiss-lawyer, Axel, who preys on elderly Jews in a Holocaust reparations scheme. Hermes poses as clumsy Herman Himmel, foiling Axel's attempts to dupe Joseph, his current elderly victim. 39 pages Catalog Number #OAPD023 Price $4.95

Second Coming

by Carolyn Nur Wistrand

Cast: Four females

Plot Summary: Second Coming is a single-act character study in racism that spans 150 years. All of the action takes place in the parlor of a once grand, but now faded, South Carolinian plantation home belonging to the Welsh family. The four characters are Welsh women, but with decidedly different points of view on the nature of their heritage. Through them an examination of racist attitudes in the South is dramatized for the stage. 38 pages
Catalog Number #OAPD024 Price $4.95

Purgatory Life

by Adam Harrell

Ida B. 'n the Lynching Tree

by Carolyn Nur Wistrand

Cast: Multiple roles

Plot Summary: Ida B. 'n the Lynching Tree is based on the foremost African American female journalist of the 19th century, Miss Ida B. Wells. A founding member of the NAACP, Ida B. Wells was characterized as courageous, fearless, and militant. The play moves swiftly through major events in the life of Miss Ida B. Wells, from her birth on July 16, 1862 in Holly Springs, Mississippi, to the Memphis lynchings of March 9, 1892, which resulted in her lifelong crusade against lynching and inequities, brought about by Jim Crow laws in the Deep South.

This historic play is suitable for English, drama, and history classes. An excellent supplemental reference, Ida B. 'n the Lynching Tree brings 19th century race relations in the United States to life for students.

C. Nur Wistrand was awarded a "Confronting Racism Grant" (2000) from the Mott Foundation to research and write the script for high school students as a vehicle to reflect and dialogue on historical issues relating to racism.

The Unsinkable Bismarck

by Jeff Folschinsky

Cast: Six males

Plot Summary: An absurdist look at the sinking of the German Battleship Bismarck. The play mostly centers around the crew of the Bismarck during their maiden voyage and their mission to seek out and destroy the British convoys in the North Atlantic. Sounds simple enough, but before they can achieve their glorious objective, they must first survive sailing around in circles through a fog bank, a tap dance number, an eccentric admiral, and getting military advice from a very fowl source. 84 pages Catalog Number #OAPD043 Price $4.95

Waiting for the Delivery and 'Til Death Do Us Part

42 pages Catalog Number #OAPD047 Price $4.95

Let It Stand

by Pamela Reeves

Cast: 2 females, 1 male

Plot Summary: A very different take on 9/11: No heroic firemen, no grieving families, no dedicated rescue workers - just a couple of displaced proofreaders at the bottom of the corporate ladder struggling with their own aftermath of the "event" at company HQ, far far away from their old office at Ground Zero. From personal experience - a very black comedy. 39 pages Catalog Number #OAPD048 Price $4.95

Exit Right

by Dan Roth

Cast: 2 males, 1 female

Plot Summary: The night preceding the Academy Awards ceremony, two old friends meet for a drink in the bar of the Hollywood Renaissance Hotel. Jump Around a Lot

Seven Tales of Olden Times for Grownups

by Lewis Gardner

Plot Summary: Olden times and old tales form the background and jumping-off point for Lewis Gardner's wacky mini-festival of comedy, JUMP AROUND A LOT. From Snow White's adventures with the Seven Deadly Sins to the complicated relationship between a captain and a cabin boy - from a 21st century version of Commedia del'Arte to a confrontation between a unicorn and a princess who is definitely not innocent - grown-ups will enjoy Gardner's short takes on old stories. Directors and theater groups can pick and choose from the plays of various lengths or present the whole program for a hilarious evening. In two volumes. Catalog Number #OAPDJUMP Price $9.50

À La King

by A. Zell Williams

Plot Summary: After breaking up with his college sweetheart, painter Steadfast Edmonds prepares her one last meal to remember him by. But as the evening progresses, what starts as a dinner turns into a debate over art, music, monogamy, and interracial dating. A comical and raucous evening, by the end of the night one thing is clear; we all need a muse. 43 pages Catalog Number #OAPD057 Price $4.95

Différence

by David Kosh

Plot Summary: At Bonne Bouche, the hottest restaurant in New York City, Nick, the biggest comic book dealer in the world, has a ring in his pocket and a marriage proposal on his lips for his ladylove Melanie. Before this evening of haute cuisine and haute amour can reach its climax, however, an unfortunate choice of entrées upends Nick's carefully laid plans and forces him to reveal to Melanie, Robert the waiter, and the great Chef Alain himself, that superheroes aren't the only ones with secret identities. 44 pages Catalog Number #OAPD058 Price $4.95

Ghost Trains

by Erick Mertz

Plot Summary: Already slowed, a small town railroad has announced that it is ceasing regular service, meaning the end of the line for a generation who relied on it. People on both sides of the tracks, like barkeeper Alex, town drunk Zelda and elderly Father Michael will feel the effects. What's left of old Main Street is already in shambles, but now that the trains are about to stop, things threaten to get even worse. 37 pages Catalog Number #OAPD059 Price $4.95

And... Action

by Dan Roth

Plot Summary: This hilarious comedy uses the "play within a play" format, following a troupe of actors as they prepare for the staged reading of a new play. "Murphy's Law" reigns supreme, as the harried director deals with: an angry leading man; a know-it-all juvenile; a miffed grande dame and a tardy, manipulative ingenue. 37 pages Catalog Number #OAPD060 Price $4.95

Soldiering On

by Pamela Reeves

Plot Summary: A take on 9/11 not much covered by the media: It's three months after the attacks, nearly Christmas, and sixty-ish Miss Margaret Wilson finds herself, much against her will, in a therapy session, stoutly insisting over and over there's no reason whatsoever for her being there. It's up to psychotherapist Pauline Churchill to try to break through this resistance, but she's having a bad day herself, and it shows - or it would, to anyone more therapy-savvy than Miss Wilson. From personal experience. 53 pages
